These Wives Have Their Husbands in Their Place!

Mama relaxes while Papa does the chores—this seems to be the trend these days as indicated by a survey and the above photographs showing the Robert Lewises and Donald Davises during informal moments at home. Lewis, Pottstown RD. 3, left, looks more cute than happy, saddled in his wife's apron as he "helps" the Missus do the dishes. In the center, Davis, 234 Wilson street, has both his lap and his hands full with 1½-year-old niece, Vickie Lewis, in his arms, and daughter Susan, 4, sitting on his lap, plus an assortment of teddy bears to keep all three happy. Where's the wife?

"Oh, out playing bridge," he sighs with envy. What do the better halves of these two stalwarts have to say? Not much, judging by the relaxed atmosphere seen at the right, where Nancy Davis (left) and Jane Lewis, twins, are too absorbed in the news and television to answer that question.

Lo, The Poor Male Takes a Beating

By BARRY R. NEMCOFF
(Mercury Staff Writer)

"Times change, man, times change," a poor male was overheard to say—and he's dead right.

To hear Grandpa tell it, Grandma would never have dared thrust a dish towel into his hand when he was sitting with his feet propped up on the potbelled stove enjoying his after-dinner cigar—but not so with Pottstown's young husbands.

To prove this point of modern male decline, a survey taken by The Mercury indicates that 91 percent of the local married men help their wives with household chores.

And to further substantiate these statistics, some braver members of Pottstown's "stronger" sex have gone as far as to turn "State's evidence" against their bullying spouses.

"When the preacher said for better or for worse, I didn't know he was throwing dish-washing into the bargain," moaned Robert Lewis, Pottstown RD. 3, a husband of 2½ years standing.

USW Wins Point In Contract Talk With Flagg's

The bargaining committee of Local 2326, United Steel Workers (CIO), met yesterday with officials of Stanley G. Flagg company to hear the firm's proposals for a new contract. It was the second meeting since the old contract expired on April 17.

Following the labor-management meeting at 1:30 p. m. in the plant, the union committee presented the company's offers to over 400 members at CIO hall, 354 King street.

A motion to postpone voting on the issues until next week was unanimously carried.

A spokesman for the union's bargaining committee said the company's new proposals were "a little better" than those offered at

Weather Hurts Tomato Growers

Pottstown area tomato growers have been whacked on the shins, first by the arid days of June and July, and now by a wet August.

The price of tomatoes has rocketed, but even the several growers who are not bound by Spring contracts, will take a financial licking.

Crops have been estimated at from 50 to 75 percent of a normal yield, while prices for those who can sell on the open market have jumped about 50 percent.

Charles P. McCall, Lewis road, Limerick township, reported last night, "My crop will be 60 percent short this year. Sure, I'm getting more money for the harvest, but tomato growers won't make as much this year as they have in past years."

McCALL is averaging $3 per

Cost of Living Wage Boost Set For 3600 Here

Approximately 3600 employees of the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation and the Doehler-Jarvis Die Casting corporation are among the more than 1,000,000 members of the United Auto Workers (CIO) who will receive a three-cent-an-hour wage increase because of a rise in the consumer's price index, Sept. 1.

The Government's latest index made public yesterday, placed it at 130.8 percent of the 1935-39 average, higher than it ever has been before.

The wages of the auto workers are tied to the rise and fall of the index. The workers receive a 1-cent increase every time the index rises 1.14 percent. Adjustments are made every three months.

The cost of living dipped briefly in February, so the auto workers took a 1-cent cut in the April adjustment. But they get that back, and 2 cents more, on the latest reading.

THE COST of living in the United States is measured monthly

Traffic Problems Here Reviewed

"Traffic planning for Pottstown" was the topic discussed last night by Hartley C. Gavert, division traffic engineer for the Philadelphia district, State Highway department, at the Rotary club dinner-meeting attended by 53 members.

Reviewing the changes in traffic planning which have helped Pottstown, he spoke chiefly of three major improvements, the first of which was the change from 45 degree angle parking to parallel parking on High street.

Another important factor that helped improve traffic conditions in the borough, he said, was the provision of off-street parking facilities, which he called a "real step forward."

Gavert also lauded the installation of many new traffic signals at intersections which "afford greater safety to both motorists and pedestrians."

AMONG the recommendations he made to improve further traffic conditions in Pottstown was the inter-connection of traffic signals from one end of town to the other for faster vehicular movement.

"A review should also be made of all the one-way streets," he

Search for Fire Alarm Box Set

Borough Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer reported yesterday he has requested that a "tracer" be sent on the long-delayed fire alarm box for South Pottstown.

Lindauer ordered the box himself from Gamewell Equipment company, Boston, Mass., several months ago, and expected it to arrive here by now.

Sending a "tracer" is a procedure used to locate merchandise lost or delayed. This "tracer" was sent out by the borough manager's office.

South Pottstown businessmen conducted a fund-raising drive the past Winter. Ordering the alarm was delayed, when several men involved thought someone else was responsible for placing the order.

Lindauer stepped in to settle the problem.

The alarm box would be South Pottstown's first.

Mothers Protest School Zones Make Children Walk Too Far

By ED ZUMACH
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Four Beech street mothers angrily announced last night they will keep their children out of Pottstown public school until they are 7 years old because of a school district plan to send the youngsters to the Washington school instead of the Jefferson school.

The Washington school is 3½ blocks and the Jefferson one block from the 400 block of Beech street where the complaining parents live.

The parents are protesting a plan recently decided upon by school officials to move the eastern boundary of the Washington school attendance zone to Washington street from Charlotte because of an overcrowded condition in the three First grades at the Jefferson school.

Only 14 children entering First grade will be affected by the new elementary school principal, Dr. George A. McCormick, superintendent of schools, said last night.

He said 126 pupils were enrolled for the three First grades a few weeks ago. The school district's goal, he added, is to cut the enrollment in those three classes to about 105.

With 126 pupils enrolled "and more still coming," Dr. McCormick said, each class would have about 42 pupils.

BECAUSE OF an excessive enrollment of 44 in the First grade at the Washington school and the prospective overcrowding at the Jefferson school, the superintendent added, Harvard E. Fosnacht, worked out a plan to ease the conditions.

Under the plan an extra room at the Washington school will house the overflow from the Washington and Jefferson First grades.

There is no acute overcrowding of the Second to Sixth grades at the Jefferson school, Dr. McCormick said, therefore there is no need to send pupils in those grades to the Washington school.

A slight overcrowding condition in those grades, is being solved, the superintendent said, by transporting 44 pupils to the Rupert street at South and Mt. Vernon streets.

"As fast as room is available in the Jefferson school, we'll send the children from the Washington school (who live near the Jefferson school) to Jefferson," the superintendent said.

He added that there has been an increase from 350 to 450 in the First grade enrollment throughout the borough since last year.

MRS. REYNOLD WHISLER, 414 Beech street, spokesman for the three mothers and another who has three children, said she had to send her child to St. Patrick's Catholic school, Hanover, because of the overcrowding at the Washington school.

Another daughter, Mary Louise, 1, apparently was uninjured.

Troopers Michael Terefenko and Warren Werner of the Reading State police, said the car sped off the road and over a 4-inch high shoulder, then struck the 25-foot high evergreen tree, which was about 1 foot in diameter at its base, and crashed into the front of the house.

Three ambulances transported the injured to the hospital and the uninjured daughter home.

Three Hurt in Accident

A 35-year-old Temple mother and two of her three children were injured 9 o'clock last night when the late model convertible in which they were returning from Atlantic City careened off Route 122 a mile north of Morganstown, felled an evergreen tree and crashed into a house.

Mrs. Pauline Golden, the mother, and Warren Werner of the Reading State police, said the car sped off the road and over a 4-inch high shoulder, then struck the 25-foot high evergreen tree, which was about 1 foot in diameter at its base, and crashed into the front of the house.

Three ambulances transported the injured to the hospital and the uninjured daughter home.

8 Scouts Plan 2000-Mile Trip Into Canada

Eight Pottstown area Explorer Scouts and two leaders will leave tomorrow morning at 3 o'clock on a 2000-mile camping, hiking, fishing, and "exploring trip through the Canadian wilds.

Andrew T. Tirkpak, advisor to Explorer Post 92, which is sponsored by George A. Amole Post 47, American Legion, will lead the caravan of two cars and a truck on the trek that will start with an opening day's drive of 365 miles to Camp Crosby near the Thousand Islands.

The trip is the "High Adventure" that post members try to have each summer. The past summer, Tirkpak led a group to Philmont, N. Mex. During the trips, the Explorers work toward advancing a rank.

Most of their Canadian camping will be done along lakes, at sites they've received permission from the Ottawa travel bureau to use. Some of their treks will take them into woods so far back that game wardens normally don't go there.

WITH THE exception of two nights at Crosby, they'll camp at a different site every night.

Their route will take them as far north as Quebec. From there they'll return through the New England States. They expect to be home Sept. 2.

Assistant advisor to 30-year-old Explorer Post 92, Tirkpak lives at 988 North Hills boulevard, is 20-year-old John A.

Man Is Arrested For Running Still In Berks County

Gettys Riley, Philadelphia, is in Berks county prison awaiting trial for three violations of the State liquor control laws.

Riley was arrested by State Liquor Control board agents following a raid on a Pike township still the past week.

He was committed to the prison by Reading Alderman Charles E. Lease at a hearing the past Wednesday.

The charges against Riley are unlawful manufacture of liquor, unlawful possession and transportation of untaxed liquor and unlawful possession of liquor in containers not bearing the State seal.

RILEY DENIED having any connection with the still operation.

At the hearing, Riley told police he was a boxer with a career allegedly including ring appearances with Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott.

No such matches were recorded in recent fight records, however, it was pointed out.

Riley stands 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 199 pounds.

Sprinkle Sprays In Some Spots

A roof-tinkling sprinkle sprayed the borough early yesterday morning. In the East End rain fell for nearly 10 minutes.

In the more elevated North End the shower lasted for a matter of seconds. After the rain it was intermittently cloudy during the day. Early last night another light shower dampened sidewalks.

The weather forecast reads like a St. Petersburg, Fla., prediction. It will be fair and mild today and tomorrow.

Optimists Hear Talk On Value of Airfield To Pottstown, Area

Ten members of the Optimist club heard A. C. Seawell, general chairman of the bicentennial airshow, speak about the value of Municipal airport to Pottstown last night.

He named the local airfield as one of the best in Eastern Pennsylvania because of its fine runways, buildings and service. He placed particular emphasis on the ambulance and charter services available here.

In recounting how the airport was acquired, Seawell gave much of the credit to ex-Borough Manager (now Assistant Borough Manager) Dow I. Sears, who he said was instrumental in obtaining Federal support in purchasing the site.

"Today the property is worth at least $150,000," he said.

AS GENERAL CHAIRMAN of the air show scheduled for Sunday, Seawell asked everyone to "pray for good weather because we anticipate a big crowd."

He told that private plane reservations for the event have to date totalled 150 and that air officials from all over the country are expected to attend the spectacle. Parking space for 1000 to 1500 automobiles will be available.

Roland Brauch, spokesman for the organization announced that the Junior Optimists softball team closed their season the past Monday with a total of five games won and five lost.

Tomorrow, the club will take the 40 boys to Philadelphia's Shibe park where they will be the guests of the Athletics in a game with the St. Louis Browns.

Compromise Suggested To Solve PTC Dispute

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — A compromise solution of the dispute between the Philadelphia transportation company and the CIO-transport workers union was suggested by Judge John Morgan Davis of common pleas court today.

The compromise, which requires the PTC to retain 38 of 98 employees scheduled for lay off, was accepted by the union leaders as a means of ending the strike threat which Local 234, TWU, has maintained since it was enjoined from striking the past Friday.

Judge Davis warned that the union must have full membership acceptance by 11:30 a. m. Pottstown time, tomorrow or he would no longer bind the company to retain the 38 employees in question.

FCC Rejects Protest Of 'Captive Audience'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Federal Communications commission today dismissed a protest against radio broadcasts on street cars and buses in the Washington, D. C., area.

The complaint was filed by the Transit Riders association incorporated, of Washington, claiming to represent "a captive audience" for the broadcasts heard on Capital Transit vehicles.

It was turned down by FCC on a technicality. A majority of the commission held that the transit riders had failed to qualify as "a party in interest" as defined in the Federal Communications act.

Through an advertising tie-in, the transit company derives revenue from the broadcasts.

The White House was the first building erected by the government in Washington, D. C., and while working on a construction project at Somerset High school of the Duke of Leinster.

Neighbors Object To Barking of Dogs

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 (AP)—A woman who kept so many dogs she lost count of them lost her pets today, saw two of her three grand-children taken to a juvenile home—then paid a $25 fine to get out of jail.

Humane society officers said they were called to the home of Mrs. Edna Stone, 64, because her neighbors objected to the barking dogs.

When police were asked to aid the Humane society representatives, Mrs. Stone was arrested for resisting an officer. Several hours after she had been released from jail she said:

"They said I was resisting an officer but I just asked him to take his hands off my wrists because he was hurting me. Anyhow, I paid the $25 fine and they (the Humane society) have all my pets.

Mrs. Stone, a widow, has a large rambling home. She keeps roomers but had reserved two rooms for the dogs.

Production Is Halted By Harvester Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Production in eight plants of International Harvester company was virtually at a standstill today after some 23,000 members of an independent union struck in support of contract demands.

Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill.) immediately charged in a statement that the strike actually was a protest against investigation of the FEUE by the House committee on un-American activities, of which Velde is a member.

Soviet Communists Will Go Into Congress Rallied Behind Central Committee, Stalin

MOSCOW, Aug. 21 (AP)—Pravda said today the Soviet Communist party will go into its 19th all-union Congress Oct. 5 "firmly rallied around its central committee and around the great leader and teacher of all progressive humanity, Comrade Stalin."

The official Communist party newspaper said editorially that convening of the Congress, which will approve import changes in the party's statutes and issue directives on Russia's fifth five-year plan, will be a historic event.

It stressed a declaration which probably will be one of the main themes of this first all-union Congress since 1929:

Superiority of the Socialist (Communist) system over the capitalist system.

It emphasized the importance of party tasks outlined in the new statutes, including a call for "strengthening by all means the active defense of the Soviet homeland from aggressive actions of its enemies."

PRAVDA DID not comment on a point that attracted attention when call for the Congress was issued yesterday over the signature of Prime Minister Stalin, the party's general secretary:

The indication that the Politburo will be eliminated and that its functions will be combined with those of the Organizations bureau (Orgburo) in a new presidium "for guidance of the work of the Central committee between sessions."

It is considered likely the Presidium will have much the same makeup as the Politburo, a party high command made up of Prime Minister Stalin and his deputies—11 at this time.

Newspaper dispatches reported a vast movement by workers throughout the country to mark the opening of the Congress with increased production. The party wants industrial output as a whole increased by 70 percent by the end of 1955 over the out of 1950.

The Congress can be expected to discuss every phase of party policy and lay down the Communist tactical line on all great issues.

The party line will be defined by the delegates after a review and report by Stalwart Marxist Georgi M. Malenkov, 50-year-old deputy prime minister.

Commuters' Train Doing 75 Collides With Car; One Killed

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 21 (AP)—A commuters' electric train running an estimated 75 miles an hour collided with a car at a crossing near here today and one person was killed and 68 injured.

Three cars of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee train were derailed. A fourth overturned. Sixteen of the injured were admitted to hospitals for further examination and treatment.

The Racine county sheriff's office identified the dead man as Epifanio Leal, 31, Racine, driver of the automobile.

An unidentified man, believed to be an Army medical officer, was credited with relieving much of the panic that followed. He reportedly quieted down some hysterical women, helped many others from the derailed cars, and aided others injured from the car which had turned over.

Witnesses said many of the injured were found walking around in a dazed condition 200 feet from the crossing.

THE TRAIN, which normally carries a large number of commuters from Chicago offices, was northbound to Milwaukee.

The motorman, Hiram M. Bryant, told newsmen Leal's car was traveling eastward over the tracks. Bryant estimated the train's speed at around 75 miles an hour at this point.

The line's trains normally travel at this rate of speed in rural areas.

The injured were taken to St. Mary's hospital and St. Luke's hospital at Racine, and St. Catherine's hospital in Kenosha, Wis. Most of the injured were given first aid at the three hospitals and released.

Six persons remained in St. Mary's, and ten at St. Catherine's for further examination. The extent of their injuries was not immediately known.

The accident occurred at Chicory road, an unguarded crossing midway between Racine and Kenosha.

Library Is Well-Supplied

Pottstown public library readers Joseph White and Harry E. Hale are shown inspecting magazines in the enclosed porch section of the building. During the past year, 2000 readers made 35,000 withdrawals among the vast array of fiction and non-fiction books available at the library, a United Fund agency.

Mossadegh Presses Back Tax Collections

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 21 (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh expanded his new soak-the-rich program today by ordering the country's ruling wealthy class to pay up back taxes they have traditionally ignored.

The Premier's economic council also proposed that Mossadegh, using the virtual dictator's power granted him by Parliament, set up a new graduated tax on all land holdings, the majority of which are owned by a handful of rich Iranians.

The new decrees emphasized Mossadegh's oft-repeated intention to dig in to the well-lined pockets of the landed gentry—of which he himself is a member—to solve the Nation's growing economic ills.

Public Library Has Served Pottstown for Over 30 Years

For the past 30 years, the Pottstown public library has been a cultural force in the community.

Both children and adults have become familiar with the site at 415 High street as a place where they can obtain free information and entertainment through a vast array of books, magazines and newspapers.

At the present time, the library has 2000 regular readers who make 35,000 withdrawals annually from a stock of 24,000 volumes of fiction and non-fiction.

"Everybody takes the library for granted," says Freda E. Gloss, head librarian. "Many times in the past, however, it has stumbled badly, almost going out of existence."

A free library for Pottstown began in 1810, and the original charter is still kept in the present building. From 1810 to 1922, public libraries came and went, new ones starting after a lack of public support had let an old one die.

IN AUTUMN, 1922, the Century club began a public drive for a new library, and the present site was purchased. Since then, a lack of funds has almost meant the end of the library, but each time the people of Pottstown kept it going with contributions.

Donations of money and books from individuals is one source of the library's support. But the major source of income is from the United Fund.

"Although the library is a going concern today," says Miss Gloss, "we do not have the facilities in help or space to give the service the public wants."

Approximately 20,000 books are catalogued on the first floor, but there are 4000 more, mostly gift books, that must remain on the third floor, uncatalogued, because of lack of space.

When catalogued books no longer are asked for, they are sent to the third floor, and the space is used for the 1000 new volumes purchased annually.

SEVENTY-FIVE magazines are received regularly and are available for reading in an enclosed porch. Space allows filing back issues for only five years, although at one time these files extended back 20 years. The Reader's Guide is available for easy reference to articles requested by readers.

Newspapers from Pottstown, Reading, Philadelphia and New York are received, and the library also subscribes to reference.

Loyalty Probe Clears Ex-Intelligence Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Army said today that a secret investigation of one of its former top counter-intelligence generals had cleared him of any suspicion of disloyalty.

Retired Brig. Gen. Elliott R. Thorpe revealed in Western, R. I. earlier today that he had withdrawn as a Republican candidate for the House of Representatives because Federal agents were questioning people about his loyalty.

In reply to inquiries, the office of the Army adjutant-general said that a letter has been forwarded to the one-time counter-intelligence chief in the southwest Pacific and in Japan "exonerating him completely."

An Army spokesman said the investigation started the past Nov. 13 after the New York Daily Worker, a Communist organ, published statements attributed to General Thorpe.

POLICE ACTION PROTESTED
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 (AP) — Two big CIO union locals protested today the action of Pittsburgh police toward 57 workers who walked off the job at the Liberty-Baking company and established picket lines.

UF Committee Checks Hospital, YMCA Budgets

The budgets of the YMCA and Pottstown hospital were reviewed by the budgets and admissions committee of the Pottstown United Fund last night.

Vincio Fisher, executive secretary, reported the Salvation Army is the only member agency which has not yet had its budget reviewed.

The total goal of the first United Fund drive in the Fall will be decided on during a board meeting next week, Fisher added.

Where Roach Filmz Is—Ants and Roaches Ain't

Roach Filmz is a new scientific development containing Chlordane for the control of household insect pests.

It is applied with a brush to places where ants, roaches, water bugs, silver fish, etc. are likely to crawl. One application leaves an invisible film that is effective for months.

When an insect crawls over the surface where invisible Roach Filmz has been applied, their legs become paralyzed and they die within about 2 hours.

It is the perfect control and does away with messy powders and sprays. The price is low, only 60c for 1/2 pint, $1.10 per pint and $1.90 per quart.

MARGARET SAYS CHARGES ARE OVER NOTHING

President's Daughter Arrives in Finland, Claims Misunderstanding

HELSINKI, Finland, Aug. 21 (U.P.)—Margaret Truman said today Swedish newspaper charges that her U. S. Secret Service bodyguard had roughed up a photographer in Stockholm were "much ado about nothing."

Photographers here popped flash bulbs and ground movie cameras while the President's daughter told a news conference she believed the Elizabeth (Bevers) Boyer, 315 LAUREL STREET, were held from a funeral home at 404 High Street yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Truman arrived here aboard the motor ship Allotar from Stockholm, where some newspapers criticized the Secret Service men assigned to watch over her. The President's daughter, on a six-week tour of the continent, will stay here two days as a guest of U. S. Minister John Cabot.

The Stockholm newspaper Expressen said the bodyguards flung aside a photographer who tried to take Miss Truman's picture.

AFTONBLADET, Sweden's biggest paper, called the American agents "gorillas" and another paper said they were "three tough guys with their left armpits bulging with artillery."

A reporter for Dagens Nyheter, a strongly pro-American paper, said one agent told his photographer "no pictures—sorry" then crowded him back by walking menacingly toward him, a pistol holster showing from under his coat. The reporter said the bodyguard didn't touch the photographer, but had a "hard grin on his face, more in the manner of a saloon bouncer."

"It was really silly," commented Margaret, adding she thought perhaps the photographer didn't understand English. She said no one in her entourage had forbidden anyone to take pictures of her.

In reply to those who wondered why armed American Secret Service men had to travel with her, Miss Truman said that it wasn't her wish but a U. S. law stipulated that members of the President's family must be supplied with a bodyguard wherever they travel.

BACK IN Washington, her father dismissed the Swedish incident—after being asked at a news conference whether he would send new instructions to Secret Service men on their conduct—by replying that no such instructions are necessary because Secret Service men are always right.

The State department said Walton Butterworth, U. S. ambassador to Sweden, reported: "There was no discussion, no argument and no weapon was displayed at any time."

State department Press Officer Michael McDermott said this report closed the case. He said he was confident Swedish-American relations would not suffer.

The Swedish Foreign office expressed the same feeling that the incident was closed and said its investigation showed that one of the bodyguards merely had said "no pictures, please" while Miss Truman looked at an exhibit.

Miss Truman's relations with the press here got off to a good start. She smiled and showed perfect poise. Newsmen were impressed by her expert handling of the news conference.

No Witches Appear For Annual Mass at Wizard's Clip Chapel

WIZARD'S CLIP, W. Va., Aug. 21 (U.P.)—Not a ghost showed up today for annual services at the tiny, weatherbeaten Chapel of the Poor Souls.

The Rev. John C. Ryan, of nearby Harpers Ferry, intoned the mass, followed by the usual special prayers for protection against evil spirits.

That was all. No ghosts.

"The witches is laid," said a townsman. "An d they ain't acomin' back."

HE SEEMS to be right. It has been 135 years now since the wizards ceased their clipping.

The people of the Blue Ridge foothills blamed the wizards on Adam Livingstone, then but lately arrived from Pennsylvania.

One night the sky was inky black, rain beat down in torrents, the wind howled through the pines and a wary stranger knocked at Adam Livingstone's door.

Livingstone took him in. The stranger fell sick. He called for the priest. Adam Livingstone hated Catholics. No priest, he swore, could enter his door.

SO THE MAN DIED. At midnight, of course.

Came the witches. Livingstone's cattle sickened and died. Stones whirled. Saucers flew.

But worst was the clipping, clipping, clipping, clipping, clipping. Little half moons cut out of the bed linens, clothing, saddles, harness, anything.

Diabolical, the neighbors called it.

LIVINGSTONE APPEALED to the Rev. Dennis Cahill at Hagerstown, Md., for help. So it was in the year 187 that the priest sprinkled holy water on Livingstone's threshold and prayed. The spirits departed.

Uncle-Nephew Farm Team Find Use of Airplanes Is Economical

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The advantages of private flying for farmers who know how to cut costs were illustrated yesterday by a Pottstown area uncle-nephew flying team.

The uncle is 46-year-old J. Howard Kugler. The nephew is 27-year-old John W. Kugler. They live on a farm along Route 422 just east of Lakeside inn, near Limerick. The uncle said they spend far less on the two-place, 65-horsepower Luscombe Silhouette that they own jointly than they would on automobile transportation.

"I don't think we've spent $125 in maintenance . . . In fact, I don't think we've spent $75," he declared. They've had the plane nearly four years.

One big reason for the low cost is that they have their own airstrip, 1500 by 100 feet, on the farm, and that they have their own hangar right there.

They built the hangar in 1945 for about $350, doing all the work themselves.

The uncle-nephew combination is strong on using metal. The hangar has all-aluminum doors and roof (the sides are cement block). The plane itself is all-metal.

A fabric plane has to be re-covered about once every five years, the uncle asserted. "The metal is just as good now as the day we got it," he added.

THE PLANE is used four or five times a week on the average. About two-thirds of the use is for pleasure; the rest for farm business.

Under the pleasure heading come their fall deer-hunting trips to Clinton county. The men can be in the woods upstate within about 90 minutes of the time they step outside their home. It would take a motorist nearly five hours.

They also make frequent trips to Atlantic City, N. J., and Lake Wallenpaupack in the Poconos.

Under the business heading come trips to cattle sales virtually anywhere in the State, or picking up farm machinery parts in Harrisburg.

Of a Summer evening, the uncle said, "We generally just fly around. . . . My nephew gets a great kick out of taking friends up for their first airplane ride."

Both men became interested in flying through their friendship with the late Wesley G. Nye, nationally-known acrobatic flier who was owner of Pottstown airport at Limerick, a half mile from their farm.

Both men, of course, learned to fly at that airport.

The maintenance of this 65-horsepower all-metal airplane owned by a Limerick township uncle and nephew has been less than $125 in the four years they've owned it. John W. Kugler, shown by the Luscombe Silhouette, and his uncle J. Howard Kugler, use the plane four or five times a week, for everything from going to a cattle sale in Center county, to going on deer-hunting trips in Clinton county, to taking friends on their first airplane ride. The Kugler farm is along Route 422 just east of Lakeside inn.

Cab Driver Is Shot Fighting Holdup Men

CARBONDALE, Aug. 21 (AP)—A 36-year-old cab driver was shot today fighting off two holdup men who boarded his taxi as fares.

Police reported the arrest of one man on suspicion, and a posse combed a wooded area near here in search of another.

The cabbie, Willis Avery, of nearby Beachlake, was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's hospital. Hospital authorities said Avery suffered a wound in the nape of his neck.

Chief County Detective Michael Munley said State police questioned James Finnegan, 38, of Philadelphia, who was arrested emerging from a suburban restaurant shortly after the shooting. No formal charge was placed against him, police said.

Munley said Avery told police two men entered his cab and asked to be driven to Honesdale, then seemed to change their minds along the way, asked him to return to Carbondale and tried to hold him up about one mile north of the city.

Avery told police he fought with the two men, rolling out of the cab in a free-for-all, and that one of them shot him before both head of Iran's civil aviation office, maceutical association, at the fled into a wooded area. A passing motorist drove Avery to the hospital. No reason group's week-long annual 100th was given for his resignation.

She said Noecker had annoyed her on other occasions.

Bail of $15 to appear at a hearing tonight at 6:30 o'clock was not posted late last night and Noecker remained in the lock-up.

Parolmen Paul I. Galloway and Howard Smoyer arrested Noecker at the theater.

Wandering Monkey Gets Cat by Tail, Swings It

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 21 (AP)—Presumably there is some connection between the latest report of a wandering monkey—which grabbed a cat and swung it by the tail—and a "missing monkey" report of the past June 10.

Mrs. Charles Heath of Mentor, says "baby," a pet monkey, has been missing. Several residents reported seeing a monkey yesterday. One woman said her cat was frightened out of several lives by the tail-swinging incident.

President Says He Knows Nothing of Washington Mess

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—President Truman said today he knows nothing of any mess in Washington. And he said that of course Democratic candidates Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman aren't making a target out of him.

But he had a crisp comment in answer to a news conference inquiry as to whether he is "satisfied with the way Stevenson and Sparkman have initiated this campaign." Stevenson is the Democratic presidential nominee, Sparkman the nominee for vice-president.

Along the way, Truman said he thinks he knows more about Government than any man in the United States and he always knows exactly what the Republicans say without even reading it. He said, too, that the Democratic party ought to have some new blood and that the Saturday Evening Post is always wrong.

Politics dominated today's meeting between the President and the press, though reporters did quiz Truman about a few other matters—notably stories in Swedish newspapers that Secret Service men guarding his daughter Margaret on a tour of Europe roughed up Swedish photographers. The President said the Secret Service agents need no new instructions as they always are right.

TRUMAN WAS asked if he had anything to say about an exchange of letters between Stevenson and the editor of the Portland, Ore., Journal, in which Stevenson promised to do his best to clean up "the mess in Washington."

The President said he had no comment because he knew nothing about any mess.

Then what about Stevenson's word to a news conference yesterday that indictments and resignations have proved there is crime and corruption in Washington?

He didn't see reports of that conference, Truman said, and therefore couldn't comment.

Search Is Pressed For Missing Soldiers Caught in Flash Flood

WITH THE U. S. 43TH DIVISION, Korea, Friday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Army pressed a search today for the bodies of 15 missing infantrymen feared drowned Monday in a flash flood while fording a South Korean stream.

The Eighth Army reported bodies of only 12 of the 41-man platoon had been recovered Thursday. There were eleven survivors. The survivors blamed the tragedy on their decision to ford the shallow stream rather than hike to a bridge two miles away. They were caught in the middle of the 75-yard wide river by a roaring wall of water caused by typhoon-generated torrential rains.

"The water came up fast—like water in a teacup rises when you put it under a faucet," said Pvt. Daniel O. Sholes of Brooklyn, N. Y. "Quick, like that! It came over the sandbar and over our heads and up our legs to our knees and to our hips. That river was really running."

"We watched eight guys having a hell of a time out on a truck that the current had caught. The men on the truck were yelling."

OIL COMPANIES CHARGED WITH DISCRIMINATION

MSA Accuses Five Of Adding 50 Million To Cost of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Mutual Security agency today accused five U. S. oil companies of "exorbitant price discrimination" which, it said, added more than 50 million dollars to the cost of the foreign aid program.

The Senate small business subcommittee on monopoly announced it had received the MSA report, and said it dealt with only one small phase of discrimination charges to be aired in another Government report to be published Monday.

MSA and the Justice department, the announcement said, have filed suit against the oil companies for recovery of more than 50 million dollars.

The committee's announcement named the five companies as Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Socony-Vacuum, The Texas company and Gulf Oil company.

THE COMMITTEE said the MSA report accused the five of "practicing price discrimination on a world-wide scale."

This, it said, consisted of a "two-price system for crude oil," with European nations receiving Marshall plan dollar aid paying a higher price for oil shipped by the five firms from the Middle East than the companies received for similar oil shipped to the United States.

In New York, a spokesman said Standard Oil of New Jersey would stand on its previous statement that all sales of Esso Export corporation have always been at competitive prices.

That statement, issued in April, said these prices were well known and have not been protested by any of the countries or customers concerned.

The entire subject, the statement said, has been discussed thoroughly at frequent conferences with the Economic Cooperation administration "in which it was pointed out in the opinion of Esso Export corporation the ECA was attempting to interfere with normal competitive prices."

Youth Smothered in Malt Tank

Two San Francisco firemen shovel frantically in a futile attempt to save John R. Reid, 18, whose hands desperately clutch at the air in a malt tank containing 14 tons of wet grain. The youth, a college student working on a summer job, accidentally fell into the tank and was buried alive before help could reach him.

Fair in Missouri Is Hit by Tornado

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 21 (AP)—A tor- nado razed through the Missouri fair grounds early this morn- ing and in less than five minutes killed one man, injured 17 others and caused extensive property damage. Officials said it would be days be- fore an accurate estimate could be compiled.

Three horses—valued at more than $100,000 each—were injured when their barn blew away. In- when their barn blew away. All cluded among the injured were Tar were harness racers entered in the Heel, purchased for $125,000 the Grand Circuit races.

The storm stretched all the way across Missouri, sending down from two to six inches of rain everywhere except the ex- treme south.

But apparently most of the damage centered in this area where the flimsy temporary city of tents has been opened to large crowds since Saturday.

AT LEAST one other death and much property damage was re- ported elsewhere.

At daybreak this morning the Sedalia Democrat estimated that

U. S. Warship Is Hit Off Coast of Korea; Four Crewmen Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—A Communist shore battery scored a hit on the destroyer-minesweeper Thompson off the east coast of Korea yesterday, killing four of the crew, the Navy reported today. Ten other men were seriously wounded when the shell, believed to be of 105 mm. caliber, struck the flying bridge, damaging the pilot house and navigating equip- ment.

The Navy said the Thompson re- turned the fire of the shore guns for some time before removing her dead and wounded to the battle- ship Iowa. The duel took place off the North Korean port of Sonjin.

A Navy announcement listed the dead as:

Eisenhower Backs U. S. Move in Korea

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Aug. 21 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose advocacy of bombing Red Chinese bases in Manchuria was a factor would be facing "very much in Truman's dismissal of the five-greater" trouble now if it had star General from his Far East, failed to move against Communists when they attacked South Korea in 1950.

The Republican presidential nom- inee thus lined up with President Truman and against some of his GOP colleagues on that point.

At the same time, however, he lit into the Administration on foreign policy, saying "really terrible blunders led up to the Korean War." He did not specify them.

Eisenhower said the move into Korea was necessary, but added "it does not excuse the people that allowed the conditions to arise that brought about that emergency."

ANSWERING QUESTIONS fired at him by GOP leaders from seven mid-western States, Eisenhower also said he knows of no one "who has presented any feasible mili- tary plan for attacking China" in- cidentally, the latest target in the move to end the Korean War. That appeared to be a direct slap at Communist sinews of war.

Board Rejects Request to Use School Space

Jehovah's Witnesses were denied use of the Boyertown High school auditorium and cafeteria at a meeting of the school board Wednesday night.

High School Principal Lawrence E. Grim said the board rejected the group's request because it would interfere with the school schedule.

The Witnesses had requested use of the school facilities for a convention to be held from Oct. 31 to Nov. 2. It was pointed out that since school would be in session at the time the meeting would tend to disrupt the normal functioning of the school.

In other business taken up at the meeting Grim reported a balance in the high school activities fund of $5855.66

CHARLES A. Y. DAVIDHEISER, treasurer, made a motion to pay the interest due Sept. 1 on Grade School Improvement bonds in the amount of $22.50 representing two and one-quarter percent interest on $2000 for a period of six months.

Russell M. Wissner was granted an additional year's leave of absence as he is ill at his home in Lenhartsville.

Bids were received and opened for the purpose of insulating the entire ceiling areas in the wood and metal shops at the rear of the high school. The contract was awarded to a Reading firm.

Davidheiser read the report of the tax collector, Paul R. Keyser, which showed the following collections: 1952 real estate taxes, $19,836.63 and 1952 per capita taxes, $3320. 1951 real estate including penalties, $489.44 and 1950 real estate taxes including penalties, $48.30.

THE DELINQUENT per capita tax collector, Earl Keim, was exonerated of 16 delinquent collections which he described as uncollectable.

George B. Swinehart, supervising principal, reported that next Thursday and Friday, all teachers of the school district will attend Berks County Teachers Institute to be held in Reading. Then on Tuesday, Sept. 2, a local teachers' meeting will be held in the high school, prior to the opening of school the following morning at 8:40 o'clock.

Vice Probe Witness Won't Sign Waiver

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—A key figure in the probe of cafe society vice balked today at appearing before a grand jury with his rights waived, and shortly afterward his blonde wife was held as a material witness.

The balking witness was 34-year-old Raymond Russell Davioni, an unemployed press agent accused of compulsory prostitution and living off the proceeds of prostitution.

He had talked for hours in the district attorney's office today and last night in what Assistant District Attorney Anthony J. Leibler called a major break in the case.

But Davioni refused to sign a waiver of immunity to appear before the grand jury—a document that would allow him to be prosecuted if his testimony incriminated him.

Hoppy's Cayuse Will Be Feature At Horse Show

A feature for children who visit the Sixth Annual Montgomery County Horse Show at the Superior Tube company's grounds, Collegeville, Sept. 6, will be a free ride on Hop-along-Cassidy's famous horse, "Topper Jr."

Manager George Ebelhare and the committee for the event said that "this would be the largest and most entertaining show to be held in this vicinity."

The program includes 17 events for children on Saturday, Sept. 6 and 26 events for adults on the following day. The children's classes will accommodate youngsters with ponies as well as older children who ride full grown horses.

Topper Jr., star of many Hop-along-Cassidy films will be at the show both days and children are invited to get a leg up. A prize will also be given twice each day to the best dressed cowboy or cowgirl.

CHAMPIONSHIPS WILL be awarded Saturday to the best child hunter and jumper. Likewise, championships for adults will be awarded Sunday for the best green and working hunters, jumpers and western horses.

The show is being put on for the benefit of the Norristown Fire department and the Lower Providence Fire company.

FLAGG TALKS—

the earlier meeting Aug. 12, but would not comment on how they were received by the membership.

STANLEY P. ELLIOTT, assistant plant superintendent and director of personnel for the company, said the main issues in the new proposals were "a 10 cent hourly wage increase across the board, retroactive as of June 9, three weeks vacation with pay for all employees with over 15 years seniority and improved insurance benefits."

According to the union spokesman, the only change in Flagg's original proposals was the vacation recommendation, which the workers consider "a very important item."

The present vacation clause differs from the earlier one in that the latter called for three-week vacations only for those employees with more than 25 years of service.

UNDER THE company plan, those with one-week vacations would be granted 2 percent of their annual incomes, those with two weeks vacation would receive 4 percent of their yearly wages and the 15-year men would get 6 percent.

Representing the company at yesterday's talks were Ralph A. Lind, Flagg's labor counsel, Alden J. Ramsdell, of the personnel department, and Elliott.

The union's bargaining committee is made up of James H. Corum, chairman; Clarence Matz, union president; Raymond Wilkison, vice-president; Stephen Shaffer, Leonard Harp, Albert Fontana, Lester H. Rothenberger, and Ann DeFeo.

WAGE INCREASE—

by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) in the Labor department. BLS figures in the cost of food, clothing, shelter and other basic consumer items.

Reflecting a five-months' climb in the cost of living for moderate-income families, the index as of the past July 15 was 1.2 points higher than in June. This was 12.1 percent above pre-Korea prices and 5 percent above the level of January, 1951, when Federal price and wage controls took effect.

A sharp rise in food prices, BLS reported, was the biggest factor in the increase from June to July. Miscellaneous goods and services, including higher automobile insurance rates and medical care, advanced three-tenths of 1 percent. Rents were up two-tenths of 1 percent and food advanced 1 1/2 percent.

BLS publishes two indexes. The new series takes into account current American spending habits. The old series still is reported because most labor contracts are tied to it. The old series moved up to 182.4 percent of the 1935-1939 base. This was just enough to give the auto workers their extra three cents.

New Appointee

Robert C. Yoder (above), Winding road and Wilson street, is the newest member of Montgomery County Housing authority. He was named by the county commissioners to succeed Richard F. Smale Sr., with whom he has been associated in business for a quarter-century. Smale did not seek re-appointment. Yoder is chairman of Continental district, Boy Scouts.

"We feel they are entirely too young to be crossing streets like that when there are no (safety) patrols along the way."

"If my boy can't be sent to Jefferson I won't send him to school. It's my prerogative not to send him until he is 7 years old." Dr. McCormick said later the law permits parents to delay their children's entrance into school until the youngsters are 8 years old.

Mrs. Whisler said Mrs. Robert Fox, 424 Beech, and Mrs. Harry Puffenberger, 411 Beech, also plan to keep their children out of school until they are 7 years old.

MRS. WISLER'S 6-year-old son, Theodore; Mrs. Fox's son, Robert, 5, and Mrs. Puffenberger's daughter, Nancy, 5, are three of the 14 children destined to attend the Washington school.

THE MEETING WAS arranged by Schaeffer's daughter, Mrs. Ernest S. Kulp, and Harry E. Yerges, 20 South Hanover street, a friend of Albright, who had read a story about Schaeffer in The Mercury when his right arm was amputated in Pottstown hospital.

Yerges drove Albright from Boyertown to Pottstown yesterday morning, took him on a tour throughout the borough to revisit familiar landmarks, and at 1 o'clock in the afternoon pulled up at Schaeffer's home.

The two old friends conversed for four hours, as Albright smoked a cigar, and Schaeffer puffed on a Dutch pipe.

"I didn't mind all that talking," said Schaeffer, "since I haven't talked Dutch to anyone for a long time."

When the men parted at 5 o'clock, Albright invited Schaeffer to visit his Boyertown home.

"I'll be up to see you before it gets cold," Schaeffer promised. "Don't forget," advised Albright, as he departed.

A trifle weary from the excitement of seeing his old friend again, Schaeffer shuffled back to his porch chair and took a nap.

Emerson Bealer, Pottstown RD 1, planted 20 acres this Spring without the benefit of a contract. He's been selling to tomato brokers at approximately $44 a ton, which is $4 above the best contract price.

William Steinberg, Roversford RD 1, and Edmund V. Winnies, Heffner road, Limerick township, have contracted to sell their entire crops to Campbell's company, Camden, N. J.

Top price for the best grade tomatoes is $29 per ton. Second grade tomatoes are netting the grower $28.

Alfred Petroski, Hartman road, Graterford, has contracted to send his crop to Conte's cannery, Perkasie, at a top price of $40 a ton.

failed Mr. Davis.

Mrs. Davis is a female who believe in the "train-em early" policy which had its roots at the beginning of their marriage five years ago.

"There wasn't much I could do about it back in the old days when we had an apartment and both of us were working," rationalizes Davis. "Besides, she helps me with the lawn every now and then and turnabout is fair play," he said with a worried expression on his face as the Missus came within earshot.

THEN THERE'S the suffering guy who's the papa of a brand-new off-spring and has to get up every night to feed the baby and change the diaper.

Into this category is pigeon-holed Warren F. DeLong, 989 Terrace lane, who speaks proudly of his 21-week-old daughter but is beginning to show the wear and tear of sleep in three installments.

"No one likes to get up every morning at 2 and 6 o'clock, but the baby gets hungry, so what are you going to do?" he asked helplessly.

The only one who can answer his question is his better half, but evidently she has already done that.

Outnumbered two to three, DeLong and his two sons, 10 and 15, have another complaint to register.

"The three of us do the dishes every night."

REFERRING THESE unfortunate males back to the Army—it looks like a real case for the chaplain.

The unfortunates who have fallen under the spiked heel of female domination come from many walks of life, but following the custom of his calling, dishwashing and baby-sitting Rev. Donald T. Flood, 518 Walnut street, says, "It's wonderful."

37 U. S. Seamen Landed After Wreck

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 21 (AP)—Thirty-seven United States seamen were landed safely on the coast today after a losing six-hour battle to save their 723-ton Liberty ship Western Farmer, which fell apart after a collision in the stormy English channel.

The men had clambered to safety aboard two British lifeboats just in time to see the Western Farmer break in two in the heavy channel seas shortly before midnight last night.

Twenty-four men, including Capt. Gunnar Utvik of Galveston, Tex., were landed at Ramsgate. The other 13 were brought to Dover.

American Ballerina Plans To Marry Airline Pilot

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The London Daily Mirror said today American Ballerina Maria Tallchief plans to marry an American airline pilot "and have lots of babies."

Maria's marriage to choreographer George Balanchine was annulled the past year because he wanted her to dance instead of having children.

The Daily Mirror said she will marry U.S. airlines pilot Elmourza Nairboss.

"This time," she was quoted as having said, "I intend to have lots of babies. Elmourza has the same ideas about children as I. I shall go on dancing, but I had rather be a mother than dancer."

Maria, 27, is the daughter of an Osage Indian. She is prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet company, now playing in London.

While the other models enjoyed primping and dressing, "Stephie" preferred to be comfortable and at the same time show what's always in style for "people her age." Below, (left), Debbie Kay Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bradley, Fourth and York streets, plays Mama to her dollie in a blue organdy dress with a white organdy ruffled apron. Patricia Ann McGee, (center), wears a ruffled dress of organdy to make her entrance. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGee, 270 North Hanover street. To the right is Sandra Laghi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Laghi, 404 Cherry street. Dressed in a bright shade of red and soft pique material, Sandra primpes before letting her friends catch her with a curl out of place.

Children's Fashions Are More Beautiful Than Ever as Stylists Meet Demands

By MARY JANE FEGELY
(Mercury Society Editor)

Can you imagine what would happen if you left your little girl alone for a whole day, Mother?

It's a safe bet that she'd take over immediately as the "little woman" and one thing for sure, she'd be dressed differently every five minutes!

The magazines and newspapers scream the headlines telling of newest fashions in Paris, Italy and the United States, but despite a lack of publicity, the selling of little girls' clothing is greater than the trade for adults, and the tots are usually loaded with clothes.

THE DEMAND has been met in grand style, with moppets wearing all the fabrics and some of the styles originated for their elders.

Party dresses, always lovely in white, have taken to shades equally as pretty and sometimes just as unusual for youngsters. For all four seasons Pottstown's shops offer dozens of frilly organdy dresses, featuring the flustering pinafore.

Colors for children have become inexhaustible and range from an electric blue and bright, bold red, electric blue and bright, bold red, electric blue and bright, bold red.

Let's start from the skin out. If you were to peek under one of the frilly party dresses on a little girl you'd find first a pair of panties with ruffle after ruffle in any dress a little miss selects is of shade desired, including plaid and great importance. In fact, sales-flowered ones. These little num-

IMPROVED APPEARANCE

There are women who are seized with sudden inspirations to improve their appearance. But they have no staying power. They lug home loot from cosmetic counters, use various items for a week or two, then forget about them. Toilettries cannot work magic. They must be given a fair deal, be used regularly, properly and with confidence.

nighties with round necklines, shirred yokes and tiny puffed sleeves in heavenly shades and fabrics. With them go matching bathrobes or the cute cotton quilted ones in jacket, brunch or floor length.

In the line of accessories the youngsters, again, have not been forgotten. Available to them are hand tooled leather bags that can be worn over the shoulder or carried in the hand.

IT MAY be true that little girls are made of sugar and spice, but when one of them trots down the street with pony tail flying, plaid socks, bright scarf and jacket, one can't help but think that ginger is the most predominate of all spices.

Of course, there are always the individualists. Some little girls, aged one month to one year, just love to watch the passing scene in comfort, and without the least bit of coaxing and not a trace of concern, this happy group of female will kick up their heels, clap their chubby little hands and blithely go just anywhere in their birthday suits, showing that after all, clothes are nice—but why be confined?

Royal Celebration Honors Princess Margaret Rose

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 21.—Bagpipers on the lawn, a picnic on the moors, a dance in Balmoral Castle tonight. These all added up to a happy birthday for Princess Margaret, who turned 22 today.

There were greetings from every continent and the day, curiously, passed without new rumors that she has decided to marry.

It was a bright day in Northern Scotland. The princess was awakened by the bagpipes and by children's voices.

Her nephew, Prince Charles, 3½, and her 2-year-old niece, Princess Anne, presented Margaret their greetings before breakfast, as did her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Among the flowers sent to the princess was a bouquet of 22 roses, a reminder that her name is Margaret Rose.

This home at 71 Cedar street was, on paper, a standardized brick house before its owners-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond N. Quigley Jr. began making changes with the help of their contractor, R. E. Hunter. Among the changes was the addition of the large bay by the front door and the shaping of the window near the front peak of the roof. This window also reflects the fact that Quigley was a Navy man during World War II. A third innovation was the corner kitchen windows, which provide brisk ventilation. There are two bedrooms downstairs (space for two more in the unfinished second floor). In addition to the first-floor bathroom, there are basement shower facilities. The home, finished a year ago, was in the $15,000 cost bracket. On the lawn are Quigley, a production worker for Firestone Tire and Rubber company, and the only child, Raymond 3d, "Skipper."

Hitches Aren't Foreseen For Republican Program

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21 (AP) — State Republican Chairman Sen. M. Harvey Taylor doesn't look for any hitches when the State organization votes on ratification of the national party program. Taylor said he does not even be-

New Teen-Age 'Fad' Brings Police Probe

TOLEDO, Aug. 21 (AP) — A new craze among teen-agers, the burning or cutting onto their arms of their lovers' initials, was under investigation here today by police. Policewoman Mary Gilley said, insofar as police have been able to learn from preliminary work, the fad has been limited to fre-quenters of one particular ice-cream store.

The situation was brought to the attention of authorities by a neighborhood physician, who said he had treated several arm infections, which resulted from the practice.

A 14-year-old girl questioned yesterday, Policewoman Gilley said, admitted she used a razor blade to scar onto her arm the initials of her two boy friends, and later cut the initials of another boy on the arms of his girl friend.

Murray Gets Pay Hike From $25,000 to $40,000

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers has given its president, Philip Murray, a pay raise from $25,000 to $40,000.

Other top officials of the million-member union also got raises from the USW executive board which ended a two-day session here yesterday.

Murray was said to have asked for a smaller raise, just enough to maintain the $3000 difference between his pay and that of the union's other two international officers.

They are James G. Thimmes, vice president, and David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer, each of whom was boosted $10,000 to $25,000 a year.

Nurses of South Korea Back Home Again on Duty

By GEORGIA A. McARTHUR
SEUL, Aug. 21. (AP)—Back home in a shellshocked hospital that twice has fallen into Communist hands, a tiny band of South Korean nurses in crisp blue uniforms loyally minister to the sick and wounded.

Many of their number are missing—captives of the Reds or dead. These nurses were captives too, but escaped in the rout of the North Korean army after the Inchon landing.

They are skilled in treating battle wounds. In the first hectic days of the war, they cared for hundreds of South Korean soldiers. They continued in their work after the Reds captured Seoul the first time. During one month of terror when they were marched from one emergency hospital to another, they tended hundreds of Communists. That was after the Red flight from Seoul.

THEY LATER escaped and came back to the Seoul Red Cross hospital, which always has more patients than beds.

Eleven of the nurses told their story through an interpreter. They obviously were awed that they had done something of interest to the outside world.

When the war began, the hospital had about 100 nurses. About 20, it turned out, were Communists and went willingly when the Reds evacuated Seoul. The rest were forced to go.

Now 17 have returned to the hospital and another 15 who escaped are working at a hospital farther south. Six others were interned mistakenly by the U. N. Command. The fate of the rest is not known here.

THEIR STORY started the day a Communist tank rumbled into the courtyard and a North Korean officer strode into the hospital and shot in cold blood four wounded South Korean officers in their beds. The Reds kicked out into the streets some 100 wounded South Korean soldiers to make room for Communist casualties.

Then started three months of terror. One nurse and her husband took poison rather than serve the Use Those Rose Colored Glasses in Your Kitchen

The urge to splurge on color is sometimes curbed by the practical housewife.

Designers have been quick to recognize the hesitancy to splash bright hues about on expensive fabrics where they might become every corridor," recalled Chief tiring long before the budget allows replacement.

But nowadays inexpensive accessories such as table glassware make their appearance in attractive, gay colors in items priced to allow a gamut of hues for the homemaker who enjoys indulging her color whims.

WIDE ACCEPTANCE of ruby and green in moderately-priced luncheon and dinner sets have paved the way for more experimentation. Now you'll find color galore to brighten breakfast and luncheon settings in kitchen, dining room, on patio or for informal buffet. One opalescent glass with applied ceramic colors of gray, chartreuse, burgundy or green is as inexpensive and durable as it is attractive.

There's tableware with a golden glint to use against a cocoa-brown tablecloth on a harvest time table centered with colorful fruits and vegetables. Some glassware has an attractive tangerine or sapphire tint.

The great demand for bright table accessories has brought back an old favorite, too, the five-inch ball vase of silvered glass.

Little things add up to beauty, says movie star Coleen Gray, who matches her lipstick and nail polish to her dress.

Late Fashion News Easy If You Make Your Own

"Make fashion news this Fall with a tailored suit that has a wish-bone closing, rounded revers, and a slightly shorter jacket," suggests McCall's.

Included in the pattern is a thoroughly feminine blouse, with no sleeves, a slit neckline and a puffy bow tie, that's specially charming in taffeta. You can have the latest in Fall fashions without harming

Miss L. S. Perkins To Conduct Vespers In Pottstown Church

Miss Lorene S. Perkins will conduct the vesper service of First Methodist church on Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Secretary of the students of the Women's Society of Christian service, Miss Perkins will take charge as fellow-members present the service.

Highlight of the service will be a dramatic presentation, "Family Crisis," which is based on the principles of loyalty, understanding and love. The loyalty of a father to his work, the understanding between children and parents, and the love of a family. All of these Christian attitudes aid the family to overcome a sudden crisis which affects the lives of every member.

THE PLAY will bring out the idea "that there are people all around us—armies of people—who feel and believe as we do, people all over the world and not necessarily even of our creed, and that in all tremendous and appalling issues which tower over us in the world today we are not without help and not alone."

Mrs. Charles Lauri will present the prelude, while Miss Carolyn Umstead will read the Scripture.

Miss Barbara Snell will offer prayer and special numbers will be given by Miss Peggy Kunkle, pianist, and Mrs. Byron Crosby.

Mrs. Lauri, Mrs. Norman Smith and Mrs. Arthur Switzer, vocalists.

Participating in the dramatic presentation will be Miss Kunkle, Mr. Byron Crosby, Miss Delores Kroll and Mr. Richard Powell.

The benediction will be given by Miss Perkins.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S

Advice to the Lovelorn Don't Concentrate on Remarriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a 49-year-old widow. My husband died about a year and a half ago, and six months after his death a man came to my house that I now find myself petting, selling furnaces. I bought one, and which I have never done before, subsequently he started coming to my house and taking me out. He would also call me up every day. Then I went away for a week, he took me to the station and kissed me goodbye. But when I returned home I found him completely changed. He said he didn't want to see me any more, and if I call him up, or if I do ever see him, all he does is to fight with me, although he will still kiss me. I asked him if he had another girl friend and he said he didn't want to discuss anything like that. He asked me if I had a boy friend and I said no, so then he said he didn't want anyone either.

I really love him very much, so I wonder if you could tell me how I can find out if he loves me or even cares for me. Do you think I have a chance with him? He is 67 years old.

A. M.

Dear A. M.: If this man has told you that he doesn't want to see you any more, can't you draw your own conclusions? Do you need anyone to point out to you that if he cared for you he would never say any thing like that?

Under such circumstances, I think you make a big mistake in pursuing him by calling him on the telephone, or, perhaps, trying to create opportunities to see him.

I can understand very well indeed, that, as a widow, you are lonely, and that you would like to be married again. But perhaps if you didn't concentrate so hard on this aim, you could find ways of overcoming your loneliness.

I have said many times in this column, the world is full of things to do today through which anyone can make new friends and find new interests. Once a person has made a beginning, one friend always leads to another, and before long life becomes full of activities that leave no time for brooding and loneliness. Look around your town and find some of these activities.

If you don't know where to look, ask someone. You are far more likely to make a good life for yourself — which is essentially what everyone is after — if you will follow out this sort of plan than if you look for only one thing, marriage.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For the past year I have been going steady, and my problem is that I now find myself petting, which I have never done before, with any boy, because I thought my house and taking me out. He was terrible. But we just can't seem to help ourselves. I am 17 and he is 19.

What should I do?

H. B.

Dear H. B.:

I get a little tired of having people tell me — which they often do in their letters — that they "just can't seem to help" doing unwise or even definitely wrong things. Would you think it an adequate excuse for a burglar to say that he just couldn't seem to help stealing?

Of course you can help yourself if you really want to.

It is far more true that the person who steals is unlikely to be able to help himself because he probably has something psychologically wrong with him which he does not understand and so cannot control. But unless you want me to think there is something psychologically wrong with you which you cannot control, the only other way of looking at your remark is that you just don't sufficiently want to stop petting.

If you sincerely want to, there certainly are things you can do to avoid it. One is for you and this boy not to spend whole evenings by yourselves in places where it is easy to let yourselves go without anyone knowing it. Another is not to permit yourselves to embrace each other. A third is, not to linger unduly over a goodnight kiss, but make your goodnight brief. If you will try out these suggestions, and be with the crowd much more often than you go out by yourselves, I think you will find your problem pretty well takes care of itself.

Dip cheese sandwiches in a mixture of egg and milk and then fry in butter or margarine until golden brown, serve with a fruit salad and a beverage for a delicious lunch. You'll need one egg and a half cup of milk beaten together until combined as the covering mixture for four sandwiches.

Smart Women Start Sewing for Autumn Wardrobe Savings

All over America sewing machines are humming in crescendo these days, scissors are snipping and paper patterns are being laid out on millions of yards of cloth. The annual fall sewing rush is getting under way.

Practically every community has a sewing instruction class of some kind these days, either in the local department store, the YWCA, or Stringfellow. Mrs. Myrtle Knechtler, Mrs. Marie Neuman, Mrs. Rose Kohler, Mrs. Anna, Becky Ann and Mrs. Betty Kae, and Mrs. Pearl Isbach.

FABRICS also offer almost unlimited variety this season, with new "miracle" fibers and finishes can transform the piece-goods budget.

In addition to the new man-made fabrics, such as orlon, dacron, and dylac, new finishes are transforming the old standbys such as cotton, linen, silk and wool.

Wrinkle-resistance is one of the greatest modern improvements in fabric finishes, while other treatments produce water repellancy, moth resistance, interesting textured surfaces and so on.

COTTONS especially are doing new tricks these days, old favorites such as denim and terry cloth, appearing in new guises, new developments such as cotton taffeta.

Hints to Help Build Happy Family Life We All Read About

By DOROTHY M. PEPER

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—If you are married and have one or more children, you already are building a family life. And you may be wondering how you can make it the kind we all read about — the kind where loving parents give their children a happy childhood, then reap returns in memory-laden letters and migrations homeward for holiday feasts.

Family life is not formed overnight. It takes days of carefully molding small actions into place, years of wise planning toward desired results. Gradually, as the family grows, its life and traditions begin to take shape.

Each good time will be a memory. Birthday parties, Sunday afternoon walks, baking cakes and cookies, suppers by the fireplace — all are occasions for harking back, recalling details, laughing over mishaps. Childhood is a series of mental pictures: few are over-erased, and most go along all through life.

GRADUALLY little incidents grow into family jokes, habits into family customs, opinions into family beliefs. Traditions are established through daily and yearly repetitions in family life. Our family sings during short motor trips, have waffles for Sunday breakfast, gathers Spring wildflowers, takes long Autumn hikes.

Scores of such "little" things are the essence of family life. They pull a family together in spirit, across miles of memories from yesterday, to enjoy conversations, letters, reunions — happy, close.

One small sound or smell today will revive happy incidents long since buried in the past — will make your son say to your daughter, "Do you remember, Sis? . . . will make them want to weave a similar pattern for their own future family life.

German Soviets Say Woman's Place Is In the Workshop

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Soviet zone of Germany has drummed up a new drive to convince its 18 million population that woman's place is in the workshop.

The ministry of education has started a canvass of schools to round up young girls for jobs in industry this Summer, after the term ends.

The intent appears to be to plug holes in industry, which is suffering from a shortage of trained labor. The Communist government leaders are sugar-coating the campaign by saying that women now have full equal rights with men in East Germany and should take advantage of it.

Posters erected in the secondary schools and also at party and public meeting places boom out:

"GIRLS, you now have full equal rights with boys in trade and technical training.

"Learn to be lathe hands, mechanics, builders, carpenters, glaziers, and tractor drivers.

To the young men, the appeal is slightly different and also somewhat revealing: the posters urge them:

"Boys, you should choose economically important jobs like mining, foundry work and building."

THE "MINING" includes the uranium mines of Saxony where thousands work behind a Russian secret police cordon. Once in the uranium miner has scarcely a chance to quit his job short of hospitalization or flight.

The "equal rights" idea has been a basic element of the Communist platform, used to enlist the support of the women.

The regime throws the women some crumbs from time to time but does not allow any of them to get beyond a certain point in the hierarchy. East German records show there are four female "secretaries of state" in the cabinet. These are equivalent to an "under-secretary" or an "assistant secretary" in the American Cabinet.

Two ministries in provincial governments were awarded to women and there are 625 female mayors in the East Zone.

Unadorned Fingernails Doom Cloaks of Polish

The accent is on unadorned fingernails. Women who have brittle and cracked nails have been covering up their shaggy fingertips with a big thick coat of polish.

Now, however, the no-polish look is in favor with busy career girls and housewives.

Although working women may prefer the unpolished fingernail, they should be more than ever alert to their fingertips. When you leave off polish it becomes all the more important to keep fingernails clean and shaped.

But whether we have a weekly manicure or take care of our own nails — the no-polish way — nails must have daily attention.

Even the softest, whitest, well-scrubbed hands look uncared-for if the nails are unkempt. And if a girl uses polish, it can't be left on the nail until it chips and cracks. The trend to no-polish is the fastidious girl's effort to keep their nails neat. If she can't keep them polished all the time, she'd rather go without nail lacquer.

When she dresses for special occasions, she uses nail polish, perhaps, but will remove it before it begins to wear off.

A soft brush dipped in warm sudsy water should be used to scrub nails at least twice a day. An orange stick dipped into suds and worked gently under the nail will remove dirt and grime.

When making cakes and cookies it is necessary to sift the flour once before measuring, for flour tends to pack and settle during handling and shipping. If you do not sift flour before measuring, you will get more than is needed in your baked product.

Tip to a bride: To prepare delicious soft-cooked eggs, lower the eggs one at a time into a saucepan of simmering (not boiling) water. Simmer the eggs three to five minutes, depending on the degree of doneness desired.

Five sophomores run a dummy drill at Franklin field as the Trojans of Pottstown High school prepare for a tough nine-game schedule this season. All these boys are being counted upon for either first-line duty or as capable reserves for senior players. Left is Milt Wensel a converted junior line-man who is being groomed for left half. No. 24 is Al Bodolus an end, Josh Sova carrying the ball and Howie Bedell next to him, may be starters in the offensive backfield before the campaign is too old. Earl Hunsicker has been working out at left tackle.

Trojans Hold First Scrimmage

Homework and 'classroom' attentiveness paid off for Pottstown's Trojan footballers as they put their well-learned lessons into practical use yesterday after only three days of drills.

Junior Playoffs Arranged as Shamrocks Win

The Junior circuit straightened out its own little playoff mixup last night as the Shamrock Juniors blasted URW 336, 8-0, at the Far fields in a settlement game for third spot.

Commissioner Bob Reis also announced last night that the Junior loop semifinals would be on a one vs. three, two vs. four arrangement instead of the 1-4, 2-3 system that had been originally planned.

The same situation cropped up in the Kne-Hi league a day earlier when the by-laws were consulted.

As it stands now, the Shamrocks gained the "advantage" of meeting first-place USWA 2326 Monday in a one-game semifinal. USWA 2177, the second place unit, fits back on last night's losses. URW nine, this evening at the Far fields, at 5:45 o'clock.

JOHNNY MURRAY and Al Gnoza, the Shamrock battery, watered every URW rally as the former chucked a two-hitter for the playoff win.

Gnoza belted a two-run double, threw out three men at second and played an overall sterling defensive game behind the bat.

As if those weren't enough, third sacker Joe Lipko had to bust a grand slam roundtripper in the second into right-center to provide the impetus for a five-run rally that clinched matters right there.

Bob Jones was rapped for a dozen hits by the victors.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length, and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Street Costs Bring Battle

ful-looking Seltzer, he said. "This is William Seltzer, who is directing the project."

Mauger argued against the 30 percent plan, which calls for the developer to pay one-half the costs of border streets, the borough to pay a quarter of the bill and the property owner across the street to be assessed the remaining quarter of the bill.

"It would seem to me," he asserted, "the borough should treat both sides of the street the same way."

MAUGER ARGUED his client was being penalized for contributing 10 feet from the front of his development along Wilson to the width of the street.

He added, "With these things in mind I would like to ask the committee to make a change in the rule."

Wells looked sharply at Mauger and Seltzer and launched his counter attack: "We encourage the development of homes because the borough needs homes."

"It is well to remember, however, that a builder is not a philanthropist as far as the borough is concerned. He comes here as a business man to build homes."

"He carried out his projects to make money from them as you and I do as lawyers, Mr. Mauger. Council has decided builders shall construct streets within their tracts at full cost."

"WHETHER the street is within his tract or alongside of his tract makes no difference. We are willing to let him put in his half of the street and to assess the other property owner 25 percent while the borough will contribute 25 percent. We're doing more for this man than anyone else. We're still making a 25 percent contribution so he can have the street."

"Our ordinance calls for Wilson street to be 40 feet in width. I understand no increase in that width was authorized through any borough channels. Under these circumstances if you want a 50 foot street, then don't tell us you're making a contribution."

Mauger interrupted. "I understand Shaner and Mr. Sears (Dow 1. Sears, assistant borough manager) conferred on the proposition and agreed the street should be 30 feet wide."

Wells snapped. "No borough official can transform the will of council."

Seltzer said softly, "We thought we were doing the borough a favor."

Wells angrily asserted, "Don't come in here under the altruistic guise of doing us a favor."

SHANER THEN told his story. "I was engaged as a private engineer by Seltzer. I saw the depth

Writer to Speak At Session in Fagleysville

"American Equivalents of Gandhi's Activities" will be discussed by author Herrymon Maurer at the public fireside sessions at Fellowship House farm, Fagleysville, tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Maurer, a contributor to "Fortune" and "Commentary" magazines, is the author of various books on religious topics and the Far East. His interest in Mahatma Gandhi, famed Indian leader, was acquired in China during the Sino-Japanese War.

His book on Gandhi, "Great Soul," was published in 1948, followed by another volume, "Collision of East and West." Another book, "What Can I Know?" is due for publication by Harper and Brothers early next year.

The weekend sessions at the training center in human relations will be attended by representatives of 15 cities who are studying the techniques used at Fellowship House farm.

In addition to his concern for understanding among racial, political and national groups, the farm has served as a bridge between the rural and city dwellers who have participated in weekend activities during the Summer.

one-year contract to the Pioneer Salt company, Philadelphia, to supply the borough with from 65,000 to 70,000 pounds of chlorine at 9 cents a pound.

An identical bid was submitted by Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company, supplier of chlorine for the past year.

Committee members said they alternate contracts between the two companies. Representing Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company was Harold S. Davenport, Pottstown. Sales representative for the successful bidder was Walter Daily, Philadelphia.

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden gave the committee a request from Horace Y. Seidel that he be permitted to construct a sidewalk at the corner of his Beech and Morris streets property without the customary cross strip between the curb and pavement.

A borough ordinance provides for a grass strip between side walks and curbs. No decision was made.

Scuttled Romance Is Blamed on Cows

SHANNON, Ireland, Aug. 21 (AP)—Ex-GI Frank Hayostak sadly bade farewell to Ireland tonight, blaming cows and people for ruining his romance with a pretty Irish milkmaid.

Frank said Breda O'Sullivan, who found his name in a bottle washed ashore seven years ago, "devoted most of her time to looking after her cows when all I wanted was to be with her."

"Anyway," he added, "we were seldom alone long enough to have a serious talk because of the reporters and photographers."

But even though Breda said "no," Frank said he had given the blue-eyed colleen two years to reconsider his proposal of marriage and life in America.

Dotted Cube Rolling Tests Mental Telepathy

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21 (AP)—Want to get in a crap game? Try Cleveland Public Library.

Once a month a group of 30 persons meet at the library and roll the little dotted cubes. The gimmick is that they call the game "Psychokinesis" and play it to see if mental telepathy can make snake eyes, boxcars and sevens turn up on demand.

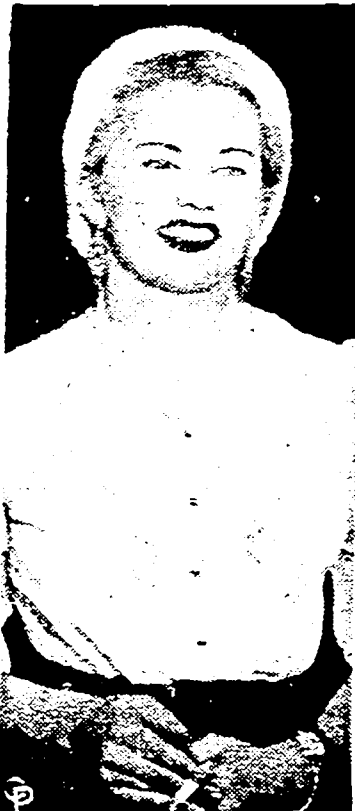

The experiment is still too young to prove of any value to those who might take a more mercenary view of dice games.

Sheridan Speeth, chairman of the Cleveland Parapsychological association, is promoting the tests.

A little group of wise hearts is better than a wilderness of fools.—John Ruskin.

A Remarkable Program

NO part of Pottstown is untouched by a street-building program to be set up by borough council Monday.

It's really East side, West side, and to that you can add North side and South side in the all-around-the-town plan to build new and rebuild old streets.

Practically no ward's left untouched. And the best part of this sensible program is many of the "older" streets in the center of town, constructed long years ago and topped by numerous layers of "temporary" surfacing, are to be dug up and reconstructed.

In this category is Beech street, the "washboard avenue" that acts as a bypass, as well as the heavily-trafficked one-way streets, Chestnut and Walnut.

Evans street and Franklin street, which take some of the load off North Charlotte and North Hanover streets, also are on the improvement list.

Of course, in the newer sections of town, streets that today are unimproved, are to get permanent surfacing. In this respect, the West, Ninth, Eighth, Seventh and Tenth wards get much of the work. Population is spreading into these wards, where new home construction has been most prevalent.

The program should please all sections of Pottstown, should meet with the approval of homeowners in every ward. Most certainly, motorists will hail with glee any movement to improve Pottstown's rutty streets.

The program is a good idea. It should be. It was set up by Montgomery county experts who have been building streets for years. These experts built North Keim street, for instance, so their ability may be gauged from the excellence of that street.

Now all that's needed is voters' approval of a $750,000 bond issue to build all these streets Pottstown has been crying for. This approval is needed so that borough council will not have to raise taxes. It's the only way to get new and improved streets without socking every taxpayer once more.

Real Community Spirit

THE Pottstown Band is bringing joy to all sections of the town with its annual free concert. Band music lovers have had many pleasant evenings sitting under the stars to hear these talented musicians.

The Pottstown Band's program are so varied that the audience isn't confined to march lovers. Today's bands are so versatile they offer repertoires that include light, classical and operatic numbers besides the martial music.

That's why the band attracts so large a crowd. It's why the Pottstown Band, under the baton of William F. Lamb Jr., is so popular.

The band is a community project. What it needs is a permanent bandshell in a permanent park. Then what Pottstown should get next is weekly concerts in that park.

A Wise Move

THERE may be a great deal behind the move of the State to take over South Keim street, from High street to the Schuylkill river.

The deal links itself with the growth of Pottstown. It may be hooked up with a State highway plan to keep heavy traffic out of Pottstown's business section.

The street may lend itself as a perfect bypass for north-south traffic, with a link to Route 190 (the West Chester pike).

The State is thinking of constructing such a bypass, including a new bridge over the Schuylkill. Such a traffic artery would permit thousands of workers employed in Firestone, Bethlehem Steel and Spicer's to eliminate the long haul into the center of Pottstown to cross the Hanover street bridge.

Pottstown is wise in asking the State to take over Keim street. It most certainly will mean a new and improved street—and there's a great possibility of bigger improvements later.

Here's How You Figure It

SUPPOSE you went to the bank every working day—five days a week, 52 weeks a year—and deposited $2.04 to the credit of the U. S. Government.

Then you would just about be paying your proportionate share of the $55,444,000,000 Federal budget, on a population basis.

Your deposit at the end of the year would total $336.40, while the 1953 Federal budget would amount to $551 for every man, woman and child in our land.

Bi-Partisan Policy Good

To the Editor: I read with admiration and concern the announcement of William Reifsnider, the president of Pottstown council, that three Democrats had been appointed to the highway committee.

I admire the council president's bi-partisan approach to the tough problem. In a way his gesture reminds me of the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg's attack on a foreign policy program for this country in the post-war years of trouble.

But what really concerns me is the apathy of some councilmen who occupy important roles.

If I've been reading correctly in the paper, a number of councilmen on important committees have failed to attend meetings.

When a man takes the pledge to serve the people of his community he should display enough interest to attend the functions of government.

If other outings seem more important than the duties of their office, then they should have thought of their obligations when they allowed their names to be presented to the public.

East End CIVIC MINDED

Don't Put Off Improvements

To the Editor: I think William H. Reifsnider, in appointing three Democrats to the highway committee, has made a commendable non-partisan move.

Now I hope members of the two parties will look at the suggested $750,000 bond issue through non-political eyes. Pottstown needs streets worse than it needs anything else. The problem has reached critical proportions in the borough.

If council fails to come through with a workable plan, then the borough will have suffered a damaging blow.

Unless work is begun on streets within the next year or two, future councils and residents for many years will be faced with increased financial burdens.

The longer any improvement program is prolonged the more it ultimately will cost.

I think the three Democrats named to the committee, Paul Kohler, George Ruyak and Gustav Schade Jr., are all fair-minded enough to co-operate in molding a bi-partisan street improvement program.

They are able councilmen. The public will owe them a big pat on the back if they come through along with other members of the committee.

I think Paul Marshall, chairman of the committee, should be congratulated for his fair-minded approach to the issue.

Pottstown NORTH ENDER

Hails Harmony

To the Editor: I was very pleased, and not a little bit surprised, to read in The Mercury today that the Republicans had appointed three Democrats to be on the highway committee in connection with the plan to have a street bond issue.

For years, both parties in town have been kicking the question of our bad streets around like a soccer ball. As a result, we have poor streets in the center of town and no streets at the edges of town.

I think good, clean political fights are helpful to a town, but I think they've been fighting this fight too long. A little harmony and progress are just what is needed.

WASHINGTON

Truman Once Willing To Remain President

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Harry Truman was anxious for re-nomination to his present office, and engaged in extraordinary maneuvers to obtain it until he became convinced that his case at Chicago was hopeless.

Although this statement will be denied by the White House, it is made on the authority of one of Truman's personal friends from Missouri, a former presidential attaché, and still a member of the semi-independent federal agency to which he was promoted by the President.

His veracity and his access to inside information at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue are unquestioned. Incidentally, his analysis of the presidential mind and actions in pre-convention days is supported by several prominent Democrats, as well as by other available evidence.

It is seemingly confirmed by Truman's crusty behavior on the day he escorted Governor Stevenson through the White House, and by his obvious pique over the discovery that he cannot dominate the new party leader to the degree he had anticipated.

CONFLICTING: Truman's first act after renouncing another term last March was to invite the Illinois Governor to the White House, where he was reported to have offered to back Stevenson for the nomination. It is now known that no guarantee was given by the President, and that he sprinkled his conversation with frequent observations that "You can never tell what a convention will do."

When Stevenson did not respond affirmatively to the White House proposal, Truman picked Vice President Barkley as a possible successor, according to his own post-convention statement. But it seems peculiar that Truman never confided his plans to anybody around him. In fact, Barkley resented the fact that Truman did not tap him as his heir.

Meanwhile, White House secretaries gave prominent, inquiring Democrats conflicting versions of Truman's preferences. "Matt" Connelly passed out the word that he favored Harriman.

Talking with another attaché, "Ed" Pauley, the California oil magnate, left the White House with the impression that Truman would not object to the nomination of Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

WILLING: Truman compounded the confusion when he said in an off-the-record interview which he knew would be publicized, "It is too bad that Dick Russell doesn't come from a Northern state." He's the ablest man in the whole bunch.

Meanwhile, Truman took other steps to show that he was willing and able. A week before the convention, he underwent a hospital checkup which reported him to be in excellent health. As a rule, the President undergoes these periodical examinations in early spring and late fall, not in midsummer.

As the authority for this theory foretold two weeks before it happened, Truman obtained a settlement of the steel strike on the eve of the convention so that it could appear as a strong, statesmanlike stroke. Permanent Chairman Sam Rayburn thought it such a Democratic accomplishment that he interrupted convention proceedings to announce the deal.

Truman's aides, as numerous state leaders can testify, phoned and wired prominent Democrats on behalf of a re-nomination, although the suggestions were cleverly phrased. And when the President reached Independence, Mo., after Stevenson's nomination, his first act was to boast to accompanying correspondents of this widespread demand that he run again.

Gossip In Gotham

THE JELKE-CHAPMAN vice story has resulted in one broken home already. A man to whose hotel room two of the "models" reported is married to the daughter of the man who owns the store he works for.

His wife is suing him for divorce, and his father-in-law has fired him—despite the fact that he, the "arranger" of the date, and all witnesses concerned vow that he had nothing to do with dating the girls. They were sent to be companions of two men who were having a drink with him, and he had no idea who they were.

A popular crooner, well known in the night spots and juke boxes, will be involved in the same morals scandal. Some top Hollywood directors, producers and actors are quaking with each edition. Some of them have been very good customers of the ladies currently making the front pages.

THE FILM COLONY is talking about the coolness between Frank Sinatra and Paul Clemens, the artist who recently painted a portrait of Ava. N. Y. Attorney-General Nathaniel Goldstein's narcotics data will make headlines after Labor Day. The Johnny Rays have their friends making clucking noises. Intimates say it ain't so that Mickey Jelke will inherit $3,000,000 when he's 25. They understand he will get $50,000, the same as his brother Johnny and sister Lana. Eddie Foy Jr. is out of the hospital with his ulcers mended. Alan Ladd, who leaves for Europe next week, has put a house-for-rent ad in the papers. If you can afford $2500 a month, feel free to apply.

The Park Avenue Theater is serving free cognac to its customers in conjunction with the new flicker, "Brandy and the Parson."

SINCE THE MORALS scandal broke, some frightened night club owners refuse to allow even the most respectable female customers to receive telephone calls. Musical comedy star Patricia Morrison is mourning the death of her only brother. He was killed in a crash when the front wheels of his automobile fell off. The Borscht Belt is hearing a "new Danny Kaye." His name is Dick Shawn, and he's scored the biggest resort hit since Danny.

Judy Garland is considering an offer to do a world tour after her baby arrives. Her pictures for years have been terrific grossers in the foreign market, and the demand for a personal appearance is heavy.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ROGER B., 25, is a talented city clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, my parishioners follow your psychology articles faithfully," he commented me at a recent ministerial convention where I was speaking.

"In fact, many of the married couples are charting their behavior according to your Rating Scales and bulletins."

"It seems to me that our newspaper is doing a great service by helping standardize human relations."

"Just as the labor laws have set minimum wages for workers, so you are teaching people the minimum acceptable behavior for successful marriage."

"With so many millions of people with different home backgrounds, varied cultural and religious outlooks, dissimilar racial ancestries and childhood experiences, it is time somebody set a psychological standard or 'par' for marital relations. More power to you, Dr. Crane."

NATURALLY, I was very gratified at receiving such generous praise concerning this newspaper clinic in practical psychology.

Roger has pointed out a function of this scientific column which I had in mind when I first launched it.

Young people, too, have often asked for a "par" standard. They want to know what is expected of a good husband and wife.

For some of them have been reared in poverty. Others have come from broken homes.

Some have seen their fathers cruelly beat their mothers. Others have jailbirds for parents or drunken fathers and adulterous mothers.

Some have seen their dads hang on to the purse strings and only dole out a dime at a time for food.

Some have been reared by doting grandparents. Others have been orphans without parental care.

Some have been abused and mistreated sexually before they were out of grammar school. Others are so uninformed or misinformed that they actually believe a girl gets a baby by simply kissing a boy!

Try to imagine the gross inequities in experience that exist between many brides and grooms who enter into marriage.

"What is par for modern marriage?" our youth have asked me as I have addressed college classes on "Marriage Problems."

"What is par for dealing with one's children?" you parents have also inquired, in thousands of letters or personal interviews.

In this column I have tried to set at least a minimum psychological standard of proper human behavior in marriage.

WHODUNNIT MYSTERY

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21—Rosemary Clooney, currently chirping at Reno, Nevada, will be co-starred at Paramount with Donald O'Connor in "The Big Song and Dance."

Donald O'Connor

O'Connor would have to be four people to be doing all the cinema his press-agents dream up for him every few minutes. Among them, "Nothing but the Blues" (once assigned to F. Sinatra); a remake of Crosby's old "Sing You Sinners"; "Look Don't Give a Damn!" and that proposed Ed Wynn revival of "Simple Simon." Wonder why Don, who in a large way, can thank Francis, the Mule for the past year's rush of fame and fortune, is suddenly "renouncing" the beast—and the films they made together.

BARBARA STANWYCK and Ralph Meeker have been a sub-rosa two for weeks. If you don't believe us, ask her. The Stanwyck hies to Europe soon to do "Finale" with Anton Walbrook. Come heck or high temperature, "The Student Prince" is set to roll to tape. If Mario Lanza doesn't show up again, maybe he can find Ricardo Montalban, the original choice for the role. Peggy Lee will have her own TV series called, "Dream Awhile" and they'll start filming in October. In color. As for her radio shows, Peg's already had Jeff Chandler, Gordon MacRae, David Wayne and MacDonald Carey guest-warbling. Carey is in Manhattan rehearsing the Theatre Guild's new play, "The Wedding." It hits the road September 1st before opening on Broadway.

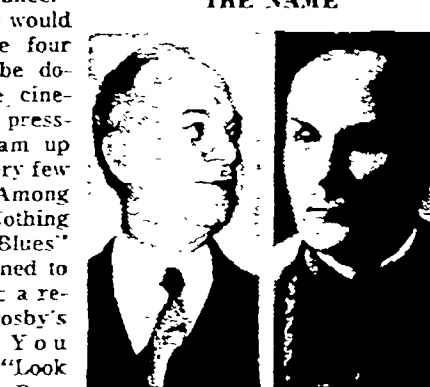

DINED WITH our visiting chums, the E. Wilsons. Dave Chasen dropped by the table. Dave and his bride of ten years, are off to N. Y. to celebrate. Nearby sat one of the world's wealthiest men—and guess who said, "For every guy who's filthy rich, there are ten girls waiting to take him to the cleaners?" Wilson flipped. "Anyone can become a millionaire. All you have to do is guess the exact moment when a piece of junk becomes an antique!" Jean Parker and Robert Lowery should be welcoming their first-born right this minute. The Sunday London Pictorial is running a series of front-page articles about Errol Flynn titled, "The Man Who Doesn't Give a Damn!" (1) Gee—you can't say THAT word in American movies. "Gone with the Wind," being the only exception we can think of. Diana Lynn and John Lindsay have come to an "understanding" about their personal lives.

Since then, Cuttito's been wearing a pa-hi to Philadelphia. He's already spent one evening backstage, returned the favor by cutting the star's hair there.

TAINT SO DEPT—Alan Lysinger, Hill road, Perkiomenville RD., has come up with an explanation of the mysterious green light that a Sanatoga woman saw streaking across the sky Monday night and that she believed was a flying saucer. "I saw the same thing myself," Lysinger said. "It was a meteorite—a shooting star." Lysinger said that he's seen plenty of meteorites while working late on his farm. In early evening, he said, the shooting stars often have a greenish color. Later at night, they have the same color as fixed stars. "This flying saucer business," Lysinger added, "is a laugh."

★ IN EUROPE—Pottstown's Lt. Martin Lerner has arrived at Neuburg air base in Germany to begin his new duties with the air force in Europe. A former student at the University of Delaware, Lt. During World War II he served with the air forces in England, North Africa, Iran, and throughout the Middle East. He also served at McGuire Air Force Base, Trenton, N. J. At the present time he is attached to the 86th Fighter-Bomber Wing as purchasing and contracting officer of the 736th Air Base Squadron. His wife, Mrs. Adeline Lerner and two daughters, Lois and Leslie, live at 114 King street.

COMING HOME—Sgt. Frank A. Rizzi Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rizzi Sr., Palm, is enroute home from the fighting in Korea under the Army's rotation plan. He fought with the Seventh Infantry division in Korea. Another lad in the same group, Pvt. Harvey L. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Baldwin, 530 Walnut street, won the combat infantryman badge, symbol of the front line soldier, with the Seventh Infantry in Korea. He's an ammunition distributor in the Army. His wife, Theresa, lives at Phoenixville. A Spring City boy, Sgt. Allen R. Collins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Collins Sr., 440 Queen street, Spring City, is back on the Korean fighting lines with the 25th Division after a five-day rest and recuperation leave in Japan. He's a supply sergeant.

★ HONORED—Thomas S. Wilke, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wilke, Bechtelsville RD 1, has been named the most improved old pioneer camper of the year at the Valley Forge Military academy Summer camp at Wayne. YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M. D.

ANTIBIOTIC drugs have finally enabled us to control and cure to a great extent syphilis and the other venereal diseases, which have long been on the list of our worst and most widespread enemies.

People in general have long misunderstood these diseases. Many think that no one with syphilis can ever be cured, an idea that has been false for many years. Others think that certain of these diseases, such as gonorrhea, are mild and unimportant, which is an equally false and perhaps even more dangerous idea.

Pottstown Portraits

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

Warren Yerger

SIXTY-NINE YEARS OLD ON THE 25TH OF NEXT MONTH, Warren Yerger looks good, feels good, eats good and sleeps good (catt-corner in the bed). And for a man who four years ago retired from one job after 39 years and who has been on another for the past two years as a public servant, that's not bad.

Today, Yerger is an equipment operator for the borough of Pottstown, a job he has full time and which on a moment's notice may require his presence any hour of the night. But, with his brisk vitality, his keen wit for puns and his constant enthusiasm, he doesn't mind that at all.

Yerger was born on Sept. 25, 1883, on of 11 children, four of whom died at an early age. His parents were the late Jacob and Rebecca (Kegerize) Yerger, who lived at Bramcote on the old Reading pike.

Jacob Yerger had returned to Pottstown after losing a leg in the Civil War at Gettysburg and for 39 years was a tower watchman on the Reading railroad at the same time he was farming a plot of land.

His son started to school at Stowe, but quit after the third year "because he was needed at home to help care for the other children."

"My job then," he says, "was to take the horse and buggy to the school and bring back all the neighborhood kids."

At 13, he was earning his first money unloading soft coal for James Smith and hauling it to the Pottstown Water company at 10 cents for each ton-and-a-half-load. It was here he first learned to know horses intimately, a knowledge that was to stand him in good stead.

After working for two years at the Stanley G. Flagg company, and then at the Gudebrod Silk mill, he went to Roversford to drive a pair of headstrong horses for an expressman there. Other drivers refused to drive the team, but Yerger broke them of runaway habits and made respectable nags out of them.

He opened a small candy store about the same time and quit driving horses to go into the green grocery business that eventually cost him his shirt. The next two years were spent in Kansas where as a ranch foreman, part of his job was breaking wild horses and tending to 480 acres of land.

Back in Pottstown in 1910, Yerger applied for a job as tank wagon driver for the Atlantic Refining company and landed the only position open by his knowledge of horses and the backing of 14 members of the Pottstown banking fraternity who were willing to post the required bond.

It was from the Atlantic Refining company he retired in 1948 after 39 years service.

About 1916, he graduated to solid-tired trucks, and continued to service dealers in this area until 1945 when he was made manager of the company's Stowe distributing plant.

His toughest job in all the years was during the Winter of 1927 at the height of a blizzard. Destined for Knauertown, he pushed through the drifts and wore out three sets of tire chains before reaching Bucktown. There, he bogged down, spent the night in his cab, and continued to Knauertown the following morning. He nearly froze to death.

According to his wife, Emma, with whom he lives at 115 East Third street, Yerger became a near-nervous wreck after his retirement. Then, in 1950, he joined the borough highway department.

Yerger is 5 feet, 6 1/2; has blue eyes and brown hair—"What there is of it"—and enjoys smoking natural leaf tobacco in an old corn cob pipe.

"Sixty-nine next month," he reminds his friends with a chuckle, "I make it."

The look on his face, however, gives the impression he'll "make it" with plenty of time to spare.

Young Taxpayer

Larry Aiken, 12, of Terre Haute, Ind., is a most unusual fellow. He is smiling as he counts up his profits after sending the Bureau of Internal Revenue 22 cents for amusement tax from a circus staged in his backyard. He is also amused because he will get back some of that 22 cents as many customers were under 12 and exempt from tax.

School Board Has Change of Mind, Will Hire Negro Teacher

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 21 (AP)—The Rural Central Kitsap School board changed its mind again last night and voted to go ahead with the employment of a Negro school teacher.

Board members said Ester Wilfong, 22, of La Grande, Ore., will teach the sixth grade in the Central Kitsap Junior High school at nearby Silverdale.

The school district is about 10 miles outside this U. S. Navy yard city, and about two-thirds of its residents are navy yard employees.

There are four Negro children in the school.

THE BOARD VOTED to withdraw its action of the previous night, which was to rescind the contract tendered the male teacher.

District Supt. Carl F. Jenne said the vote to reaffirm Wilfong's contract was unanimous—just as the previous night's contract-rescinding action had been.

Station Wagon Thief Gets Holiday Costumes

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 (AP)—The chief who stole the Salvation Army's emergency station wagon last night will be able to have a big time next Christmas and Easter.

The machine was full of costumes used in plays at the church holidays.

German Boy Seeks To Remain in U. S.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 (AP)—Immigration authorities ordered 17-year-old Manfred Tanz deported today after he failed to get aid from a former Army officer whom the German youth crossed the Atlantic ocean to find.

The youth declared at the conclusion of a hearing in Federal District court:

"In Germany no one cares for me and it's easier living in the United States. I wish to stay here or in Canada and not be deported to Germany."

But hearing officer Herman Williams, who ruled Tanz entered the country as an alien, said it's doubtful if Canadian authorities would accept him.

Bank President Foils Robber, by Shutting Door

POPULAR, Wis., Aug. 21 (AP)—A small town bank president foiled a would-be robber today by slamming the vault door in his face while carrying a paper sack full of cashier's cage money.

Sheriff Elton Ekroth said C. R. Olson, Popular state bank president, turned the neat trick which sent an armed youth fleeing empty-handed.

Olson, according to the sheriff, was alone in the bank. He complied with an order to put the cashier's change into a sack handed him by the youth. Then, with the gun at his back and bag in his hand, headed for the vault.

A couple of paces separated the two when Olson dove through the door and changed it shut in the youth's face. Later, hearing the bank's outer door close, he came out and spread the alarm.

Although light is often thought of as including only visible rays, there are invisible rays such as ultra-violet and infra-red which act in the same manner as light and are often called light.

Sleeping Sickness Death Toll Mounts

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Thirty Californians have died this year of encephalitis, the State Department of Health announced today.

Twelve of the deaths were within the last week.

It is the worst outbreak of sleeping sickness in the State's history. A total of 499 cases have been reported since June 1, including 81 the past week and 18 this week.

The department said the disease was slowly creeping north, mostly in the interior valleys.

PRESS REPORTS told of four new deaths in three counties. Of the 499 reported cases, the health department said, 315 have been clinically diagnosed as some type of encephalitis. The remaining 184 are suspected cases under observation.

Spitsbergen is bleak, mountainous and more than half covered with perpetual ice, says the National Geographic Society.

Stiffer Taxes Are Urged By Group for Trucks

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors today urged stiffer taxes on heavy trucks to offset what it described as "undue damage" to highways.

The group also called for creation of a State Department of Local Government with a secretary of cabinet rank.

H. A. Thompson, secretary of the association, said the 1953 legislature will be asked to enact such a department into law to end what he called "duplication of effort as well as additional work on the part of local Government officials in reporting identical activities to different departments."

Municipalities presently submit such reports to the Highways department, the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, and other agencies.

Stiffer Taxes Are Urged By Group for Trucks

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors today urged stiffer taxes on heavy trucks to offset what it described as "undue damage" to highways.

The group also called for creation of a State Department of Local Government with a secretary of cabinet rank.

H. A. Thompson, secretary of the association, said the 1953 legislature will be asked to enact such a department into law to end what he called "duplication of effort as well as additional work on the part of local Government officials in reporting identical activities to different departments."

Municipalities presently submit such reports to the Highways department, the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, and other agencies.
